YEAR MAGAZINE

WELCOME ADDRESS

As you are aware, end of 2009 EUSA celebrated its 10th anniversary with a magnificent gala dinner in Vienna, an unforgettable night which has seen the participation of our Member's delegates, the Executive Committee and our staff. To those who are going through the pages of our Magazine for the first time, I would like to devote a few words on our Association and the activities carried out so far.

At present, EUSA is one of the most active University Sport Associations worldwide which gathers 43 European countries and organises yearly European Universities Championships, EUSA Cups as well as Conventions, Symposiums and other events all over Europe. The appreciation and respect which is highly reputed in our Association, arises from its structure, its management, its capability to effect and communicate in the fields of culture and education.

Moreover, the significant increase of the participation in our events is a clear demonstration of the huge success achieved by EUSA in its activity being today the benchmark for the University Institutions.

As you can see from the broad range of activities just described, EUSA is an Association that does not stand still. It also provides a very useful and updated Website which keeps our Members constantly informed on the activities and all the events, facilitating the universities in enrolling their teams in our Championships. I feel very privileged and honoured to be involved with such a dynamic Association. However, all these activities are only possible due to the enormous level of support and encouragement we receive from our Members and the huge work of our Secretariat which can count on a new fully equipped office in Ljubljana, Executive Committee Members, Technical Delegates, Student and Medical Commission.

Notwithstanding the great achievement we witnessed through the last decade, EUSA is now approaching a new era in which innovative goals are about to be reached. As a matter of fact, thanks to a continued work aimed at spreading out the values and the passion for the University sport, we managed to involve more countries in our activity as well as to meet high academic authorities. The result of this effort is the establishment of the EUSA Games to be held in Cordoba, Spain, which for the first time will foresee the organisation of 10 different Championships at the same place at the same time.

Moreover, EUSA has strengthened the relations with other Continental Associations and is setting up the organisation of Intercontinental Championships which will be determined in the nearby future. Our Association is also involved in cooperation with ENGSO and other partners in a project which has been chosen by EU among all those presented on the problem of doping. The project is supported by the EU funds and will foresee the organisation of Conferences and Seminars on this specific matter aimed at reducing doping in sport.

Last, but certainly not least, I want to gratefully acknowledge our major sponsor – Asiana Airline and partner – FISU, both demonstrating a strong support and commitment to our Association.

Alberto Gualtieri, President

EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES CHAMPIONSHIPS 2010

In 2001, when the EUC began to be organised, EUSA started with two events – basketball and volleyball. The list has been gradually expanding ever since, and while some sports are organised every year, some are organised biannually.

In 2010, there were 11 European Universities Championships on the calendar of the European University Sports Association. Individual student athletes and university teams represented 296 universities from 30 countries participating in the 11 successfully concluded events.

The number of participants at the championships has been steadily growing. If there were 250 participants in 2001, there are no less than 2770 participants in 2010. This is more than tenfold in a relatively short time.

We are also proud of the increasing participation of women. While some sports are still dominated by men, in most other sports participation of women is very high.

German and Portuguese students were present in all editions of the European Universities Championships in 2010, followed closely by the French and Polish teams, missing only one championship. We are also very happy to record participation of some new countries, like Azerbaijan.

6th EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES ROWING CHAMPIONSHIP

Amsterdam, the Netherlands: August 19-22, 2010

The 6th European Universities Rowing Championship, taking place between August 19th and 22nd hosted nearly 500 participants, representing 70 universities from 13 countries competing in 22 boat classes. This makes the EUC Rowing 2010 not only the largest EUSA event of the year, but also the biggest EUC ever held since the founding of EUSA.

Due to the good and fair racing conditions combined with some tail wind the standing records were broken in six boat classes. The M2x record of the University of Zagreb (6:51.20) got no rest: Poznan University of Life Sciences (POL) broke it in the first heat, Vienna was even faster in the second heat. In the repechages the University of Amsterdam sharpened the record with four seconds, but in the final Poznan University of Life Sciences finally turned it down to 6:30.97.

Students Sports Netherlands introduced a new award for the best university: the EUSA SSN Award went to the University of Economy Bydgoszcz (POL). The EUSA Salver for the best country went to the team of Great Britain.

EUSA representatives; Mr Česlovas Garbaliuskas, Executive Committee member, and Mr Josip Kostelić, EUSA Technical Delegate for rowing, expressed their gratitude to the organisers, congratulated all participants for taking part in the championship and welcomed many spectacular results achieved this year.

7th EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Coimbra, Portugal: July 25–31, 2010

The University Stadium of the University of Coimbra received 34 teams from 16 countries, a record number of participants. Many players have positions in current ATP and WTA rankings.

After more than 200 matches, the new European champions were known this Saturday. In the men's team final, the title went to Kozminski who defeated Zagreb University by 2-0, in a very competitive game. In the women's team final the title went to Leonard Da Vinci who beat Moscow by 3-0.

Besides the games, the participants got to know Coimbra University, the city, its culture and traditions and Figueira da Foz Beach.

In his balance statement, the O.C. President, Ricardo Duarte, considered that all delegations had the same opinion: it was the best European Universities tennis Championship ever. EUSA Tennis Technical Delegate, Nick Grivas, agreed that "the big numbers of participants shows that tennis is a very popular sport among students. The Coimbra Organizing Committee had done a tremendous work ensuring players very good conditions for playing tennis, living and socializing," adding that we are very proud that as a result of Tennis EUC, Coimbra students and community have now more courts to practice tennis. Next year the Championship will take place in St. Gallen, Switzerland.

ASIANA AIRLINES

EUSA SPONSOR

EUSA is proud to see its sponsor Asiana Airlines nominated the Airline of the Year 2010 at the 2010 World Airline Awards - known as the Passenger's Choice awards in Hamburg, Germany earlier this year.

This award by Skytrex represents a true recognition of the front-line product and service that Asiana Airlines is delivering to its customers, and the slogan of 'the Passenger's Choice awards' underlines the fact that Asiana Airlines are succeeding in satisfying the hardest critics - their users. Asiana Airlines is a member of the Star Alliance group, and has signed a sponsorship agreement with EUSA for the period of 2010-2012.

For more than two decades, Asiana's main goal has been to offer its passengers the highest safety and service standards. With the aim of guiding every thought and action of its employees, Asiana adopted the term Uncompromising Safety as the main theme of its mission statement. In keeping with this target of uncompromising safety, Asiana maintains the youngest fleet worldwide and, as the first airline in the world, was granted ISO 9002 certification on aircraft maintenance.

With its young fleet, Asiana today serves over 80 cities in 20 countries, and represents the largest connection between mainland China and the rest of the world, serving also routes from Europe (currently from Frankfurt, London, Paris).
